POLICE WERE POWERLESS

Day of Riot When Women Tried to Parade in Washington and Suffragists Were Exposed to Jibes

Washington, March 3.—Five thousand women, marching in the woman suffrage parade today, fought their way foot by foot up Pennsylvania avenue through a surging mob that completely defied the Washington police, swamped the marchers, and broke their procession into little communities. The women, trudging stoutly along under great difficulties, were able to complete their march only when troops of cavalry from Fort Myer were rushed into Washington to take charge of Pennsylvania avenue. No inauguration has ever produced such scenes, which in many instances amounted to nothing less than riots.

Later in Continental hall, the women turned what was to have been a suffrage demonstration into an indignation meeting in which the Washington police were roundly denounced for their inactivity, and resolutions were passed calling upon President-elect Wilson and the incoming congress to make an investigation and locate the responsibility for the indignities the marchers suffered.

Miss Helen Keller, the noted deaf, dumb and blind girl, was so exhausted and unnerved by the experience in attempting to reach a grandstand where she was to have been a guest of honor, that she was unable to speak later at Continental hall.

The scenes which attended the entry of "Oen," Rosalie Jones and her "hikers" on Thursday, when the bedraggled women had to fight their way up Pennsylvania avenue, swamped by a mob with which few policemen struggled in vain, were repeated today but upon vastly a larger scale. The marchers had to fight their way from the start and took more than an hour in making the first ten blocks. Many of the women were in tears under the jibes and insults of the mob-battle en route.

The stout wire ropes had been stretched up and down the length of Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the Mall behind the White House, but the enormous crowds that gathered early to obtain points of vantage overstepped them or crawled beneath. Apparently no effort was made to drive back the trespassers in the early hours, with the result that when the parade started it faced at almost every hundred yards a solid wall of humanity.

It was, on the whole, a hostile crowd through which the women marched. Mrs. Inez Mithell, herald of the procession, distinguished herself by aiding in riding down a mob that blocked the way and threatened to disperse the parade. Another woman member of the pettiest cavalry struck a hoodlum a stinging blow across the face in reply to a remark as she was passing.

The mounted police rode hither and thither but seemed powerless to stem the tide of humanity. A group of hoodlums gathered in front of the reviewing stand on which Mrs. William H. Taft and Miss Helen Taft and a dozen invited guests from the White

BURLEIGH SERIOUSLY ILL

Senator-Elect of Maine Detained in Baltimore, With Physician Attending.

Baltimore, March 3.—United States Senator-elect Edwin Chace Burleigh of Augusta, Me., is ill at the Hotel Emerson. With him is Dr. R. H. Stubbs of Augusta, his private physician, who accompanied him to Baltimore. Mr. Burleigh's condition is said to be serious, but his physician is working hard with him in the hope that he may be able to continue his journey to Washington tomorrow so he can take the oath of office.

Saturday Manager Hampstead of the Hotel Emerson received a long distance telephone message from Boston requesting that a room be reserved for Mr. Burleigh. Late Saturday afternoon Mr. Burleigh and his physician arrived at the hotel.

Illness Prevents Departure
Manager Hampstead had only been able to give Mr. Burleigh and his physician the room for Saturday night owing to the large number of reservations made by persons for the inauguration. Yesterday morning Dr. Stubbs called upon Mr. Hampstead and requested him that he be allowed to keep the room until tomorrow morning as Mr. Burleigh was very ill and could not stand the journey to Washington. It was arranged that Mr. Burleigh and his physician could keep their room.

F. W. HARTFORD.

Washington, D. C., March 4.—Nothing was left undone to make the inaugural ceremonies of Woodrow Wilson, the most extensive and impressive in the nation. The city today was alive with enthusiasm and thousands gayly paraded the emblazoned streets.

At 9 o'clock President-elect Wilson devoted a brief space of time to greet the newspaper men of the country.

At 9.30 o'clock he received the inaugural committee of congress, consisting of Senators Crane, Overman, and Bacon, and Representatives McKinley, Ricker and Garrett who escorted him, with Vice-President-elect Marshall to the White House. President Taft was awaiting them and soon afterwards the inaugural party left the White House for the Capitol. Major General Wood, chief of staff of the army, and staff preceded them.

HOLLIS LACKED FIVE OF ELECTION

Col. John H. Bartlett Increases His Vote at Concord Today.

Concord, N. H., March 4.—Today's vote resulted in the same old story—no choice. It had been claimed by the supporters of Henry F. Hollis that he would be elected when today's vote was taken, but he still lacked five votes of an election. Col. John H. Bartlett of Portsmouth made the largest gain of any of the candidates, his vote reaching forty-nine. The followers of Bass and Britton still remained with their candidates. The vote was as follows:

Whole number of votes	401

THEY WILL ASK FOR BIDS

Boston & Maine Will Award Hacking Privilege to the Highest Bidder.

The Boston & Maine railroad has sent out circulars to the several agents of the larger stations of the Portland Division directing that the agents at once ask for competitive bids among the hack drivers and heavy men for business at the several stations, on May 1 the company will control through it sees this business and those who are awarded the privilege will be thereafter protected in their rights under the contract made.

Today Station Agent F. F. Grant, acting under the directions issued the call for proposals among the carriage men who do business here. In explanation of the circular sent to the various agents of stations where owners of public conveyances have enjoyed the privilege of soliciting business on the company's premises, inviting sealed bids from such owners, Superintendent C. E. McNeill states that the complaints from Gloucester and the rivalry between three taxicab outfits at Haverhill for the privilege forced him to the conclusion that uniformity should obtain at all stations, large or small, all along the line.

Some years ago the scheme was tried at Dover station and was considered as not very successful.

DRYDEN DEFEATED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION

George Bailey Greatly Outweighed
But Lacks Speed and Ability of Dryden.

Bill Dryden the champion light heavy weight of New Hampshire defeated George Bailey, the champion heavy weight of Vermont, at Freeman's hall on Monday evening before a large and very enthusiastic audience. The fans were enthusiastic for the reason that Dryden did what looked like an impossibility in defeating Bailey who besides having 45 pounds weight on him was as strong as a horse and no mean wrestler. It certainly did look bad for the local man but he proved the usual game wrestler and finally pulled out a victory.

Bailey weighs 215 pounds and he is a champion weight lifter and a very powerful man above the waist. He is very fast on his feet for such a heavy man and at the first of it he tossed Dryden around at will. Dryden, who is in the pink of condition not over 175 pounds, is taking chances working with such heavy men, but he seems to relish the big fellow after the newness of the struggle were off.

Bailey got the first fall in 11 minutes after Dryden had worked out of some very narrow places. He was finally nailed with a double arm bar and while he was struggling in getting off the mat he was pinned before he could get away in just 11 minutes.

Bailey has wonderful strength and weight was such that there was no getting away.

Dryden was a little more careful after the first fall and he played his man in the second and soon had him showing signs of tiring. The fall came at the end of 24 minutes work when Dryden got a flying head chamber and half arm bar and the big man was down to the great delight of the crowd. He was wisely in walking to his dressing room and began to show the effects of his work. At the end of ten minutes rest they came out for the third fall and Dryden after keeping his man guessing for some minutes he went at him fast and finally got him into a head scissors and with a crash laid him out standing on his head until he weakened sufficiently and he then rolled him over for a fall in 13 minutes.

Dryden showed wonderful form and after getting away with Bailey the fans would back him to the limit.

Joe Kilgough of Lenoire referred to him in his usual thorough manner.

The match next week will be Jack Everhart the southern middle weight champion, who is considered one of the most intelligent and fastest men in the country. He is a white head in action and it will be a great match.

Murphy and Wolgast to Meet Again; Scene in their Recent Battle in Frisco

San Francisco, March 4.—Ad Wolgast and Tommy Murphy, who recently fought a twenty-round draw here, are to meet again. Although no date has been set for the fight it is more than likely that the boys will battle on March 17. The recent scrap was one of the best held in this city for some time. Admirers of Wolgast claim that if the bout had gone a few more rounds he would have knocked out Murphy. For the first rounds Murphy had the better of the battle, but he tired, and Wolgast even-

LOCOMOTIVE EXPLODED BLOCKING TRAFFIC

Railway, N. J., March 3.—The locomotive of a Washington-bound railroad train over the Pennsylvania railroad exploded as it drew into this town today, seriously, if not fatally, injuring the engineer and fireman, and blocking for nearly an hour the rush of passenger traffic to the inauguration.

The eight cars behind the locomotive bearing 259 members of the 2d Corps of Cadets, Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, from Falmouth, fortunately did not leave the track and none were hurt.

The engineer, J. A. Hemmick, of Newark, was hurled from his cab against a building and his skull was crushed. He was also badly lacerated and can hardly survive. Edward Murray, the fireman, was burned, but has a chance for life.

The cause of the explosion has not been determined. The train had slowed up to pass through the town and the locomotive was opposite a factory when the boiler burst. It shot upward from the tracks and landed on the track 60 feet ahead.

Debris was strewn over the three

Mr. A. C. Heffenger made a clean up of the fox hound show at Union last week with Larch A. The special gold medal offered by the Brunswick fox hound club and the special prize offered by H. D. Vaughan master of the Norfolk Hunt Club.

With the puppy rector he took the special prize for the best puppy shown that was bred by an exhibitor. It was a notable clean up of prize and is in keeping of the former records of the Heffenger kennel.

Home guard. They kept up a running fire of hostile comment. Apparently no effort was made to remove them, and they were allowed to remain. The White House party left before the procession had passed by the building and by the time the parade started the crowd was in the streets. The parade was a success, and the crowd was in the streets.

The ladies on the steps of the treasury building, framed in the great columns and the broad stairway of the government treasury house, were seen when the parade started from its rendezvous at the base of the capital. In the center of the group, the woman's symbolization of woman's aspiration for political freedom was completed long before the head of the parade was in sight. In their thin dresses and bare arms, the performers walked, shivering, for more than an hour until finally they were forced to seek refuge within the big building.

Around the treasury department, the crowds were massed so tightly that repeated charges by the police were seemingly ineffective. It was as though the police charged a stone wall. Occasionally the mob gave way in one place, only to break over and under the wire hedge at some other.

When the cavalry suddenly appeared there was a wild outburst of applause in the reviewing stand. The men in brown virtually brushed aside the mounted and foot police and took charge. In two lines the troop charged the crowds. Evidently realizing they would be ridden down, the mobs fought their way back. When they hesitated the cavalry men under the orders of their officers did not hesitate. Their horses were driven into the throngs and whirled and wheeled until beating men and women were forced to retreat. A space was quickly cleared.

The parade in itself, in spite of the delays, was a great success. Passing through two walls of antagonistic humanity, the marchers for the most part kept their temper. They suffered insult and closed their eyes to blows and jeers. Few faltered, although several of the older women were forced to drop out from time to time.

The greatest ovation probably was given to "Gen." Rosalie Jones, who led her little band of "Jokers" from New York over rough roads and through snow and rain to march for the "cause." "General" Jones was radiant. She carried a bunch of American Beauty roses, which made a splash of scarlet against the dull brown of her hooded tramping gown.

When the women assembled in Continental hall, the resolution adopted to be presented to President Wilson after his inauguration, tomorrow, called on him in demand of congress a thorough investigation for the "poor police protection, which would have been a disgrace to any city but which was doubly so here," with a further demand that the responsible authorities be punished for their indifference and negligence.

The opening address by Dr. Anna Shaw, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, was a bitter exhortation of the police.

"Never was I so ashamed of our national capital before," she said. "Anything could prove the need of the ballot, nothing could prove it more than the treatment we received today. The women in the parade showed wonderful dignity and self-respect in keeping cool in the midst of insult and lewd remarks. Hoodlums were given possession of the streets here today without any adequate attempt being made to protect us."

Oswald Garrison Villard of New York, grandson of William Lloyd Garrison, the great abolitionist, at the conclusion of Dr. Shaw's address, read the resolution, which she had suggested during her speech, calling for congressional investigation, and it was unanimously adopted.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Suffrage Association, declared that members of congress should demand an investigation. Many of the men along the line, she declared, "were drunk enough for the job." In no other nation but Switzerland, she said, have the women been forced to take their appeal for the vote to the rabble.

POEHLER WON'T BOWL Until He Gets Ready—Chris- topher Waiting.

J. P. Murphy, authority on bowling in the sporting columns of the Boston American, under the heading "Poehler all right," has the following:

"Although steps have been taken to arrange dates for the Christopher-Poehler match, no decision has been reached as yet, and the way things look at present it will not be pulled off this month. It will be impossible for Poehler to bowl. If he does it will interfere with his business and no sensible man would put pastimes before business. Poehler is in the employ of the government at the Fore River yards. Examinations come up this month and as the 'Dutchman' desires to better his position, all his nights this month will be devoted to his studies. Christopher has recovered from a bad cold and is anxious to meet Poehler. He should, however, use better judgment, and realize the position in which Poehler is placed and also consider that Poehler did not claim the forfeit money which he could have done when he (Christopher) was sick."

ALLIES AGAIN REPEAL A LIST OF DEMANDS

London, March 3.—A despatch to the Times from Sofia says that it is believed if the Porte should propose a frontier line running from Midia to Muradli, north of Rodosto, and thence to Bnos, to the Aegean Sea, before Adrianople falls the allies would accept and conclude peace. It, however, Turkey delays until Adrianople has fallen, Bulgaria would insist upon the possession of Rodosto.

The Demands of the Allies.

According to "official information" received in Rome the Balkan states will insist upon the following conditions for the conclusion of peace, even through the mediation of the Powers.

First—The contracting parties pledge themselves to the immediate and simultaneous cessation of hostilities after the signing of the treaty of peace.

Second—Contemporaneously, Turkey must surrender to the allies Adrianople, Scutari and Janina.

Third—The Bulgarian-Turkish frontier shall extend from Rodosto to Midia, the exact line to be established by a military commission, composed of Bulgarians and Turks.

Fourth—The peninsula of Gallipoli to be ceded to the allies.

Fifth—All the Aegean islands occupied at present by the Greeks to be ceded to the allies.

Sixth—Prisoners of war and hostages to be exchanged with the briefest delay.

Seventh—Turkey to pay the allies $300,000,000 war indemnity, deducting from it, however, that portion of the Ottoman public debt borne by the Turkish European provinces.

Eighth—A special representative of the sultan to be permitted in the Balkan territory for religious purposes, having under his jurisdiction all mosques, pious funds and church properties.

Ninth—All treaties, conventions and agreements existing between the allies and Turkey before the commencement of the war to be reestablished.

NEWTON NEWKIRK AT THE ELKS

Newton Newkirk, the Boston Post humorist, made a great hit with the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks, at their home on Monday evening.

It was the third in a series of excellent socials and there was a large gathering out to hear Newkirk. He did not disappoint them and he kept the audience in good humor during the entire evening. Mr. Newkirk was prevailed upon some weeks ago to appear at Kelth's and he made a great hit. He has a nice way of talking, and in a quiet tone he reels off many fine stories and jokes and it requires a keen witted man to get all of his stuff.

TOOK AWAY SOUVENIRS

Washington, March 3.—When Mrs. Taft leaves the White House tomorrow she will take with her the autograph album in which notable visitors during the past four years have inscribed their names. Mrs. Taft will be merely following precedent in taking the album with her, for the book always has gone to the mistress of the White House when she leaves the Executive Mansion.

The President will take with him, as a reminder of his four strenuous years, the chair in which he sat in presiding over the deliberations of his Cabinet. His desk chair also will be packed with his belongings.

FOUR MEXICANS KILLED IN CLASH WITH U. S. TROOPS

Douglas, Ariz., March 3.—Four dead Mexican soldiers and an unknown number of wounded were taken to Agua Prieta today from the point on the international border, five miles from here, where two troops of the 9th United States Cavalry fought a battle with Mexican regulars yesterday.

More than 2000 shots were fired by the American troops, and it is estimated that fully as many were fired by the Mexicans. None of the Americans were hit. Neither side crossed the line.

Col. Guilfoyle, commanding the 9th Cavalry, has sent a detailed report of the skirmish to Washington. He said today he did not anticipate further trouble. As a precaution, however, the usual border patrol of the 9th Cavalry was increased this morning. Everything was quiet along the line today.

Gen. O'Leary, Mexican commander at Agua Prieta, today claimed that the American troops fired first. This is denied by United States Army officers. Lieut. Nicholson, in command of the 15th who first engaged the Mexicans, and Capt. Armstrong, who commanded troops E and F when they came to the relief of the patrol, said today that a volley came from the Mexican side before the Americans fired.

According to the Army officers, Lieut. Nicholson and his 15 men were fired upon without warning by 75 Mexican Federals. The patrol returned the fire but in a few minutes retreated to the Calumet & Arizona smelter for reinforcements.

Troops E and F under Capt. Armstrong responded with a machine gun and 120 pounds of ammunition per man. At sight of the reinforcements the Mexicans again began firing. The troops replied vigorously, and a general engagement was soon on.

The opposing forces were in skirmish lines, 300 yards apart, with the international line between them. After 30 minutes the Mexicans retreated beyond the range of the troops' rifles.

An incident which preceded the skirmish and which is believed by some observers to have some connection with it was the arrest by the border patrol Saturday afternoon of Juan Castilla as he was trying to cross from the American side to Agua Prieta with messages from E. Calles, leader of the Maderista junta in Douglas, to his followers in Sonora.

The messages were addressed to the commander at Fronteras last week, and demanded the release of two Maderista officers held captive by the regulars.

Castilla is still detained by the authorities, and the messages are in the hands of Col. Guilfoyle. Soon after the arrest of the rebel messenger Saturday a few shots were fired across the line at a squad of American troops.

ATTACK A TROOP TRAIN

Mexican Rebels Kill or Wound 60 Federals—Zapatistas Keep Up Their Guerrilla Warfare.

Mexico City, March 3.—The program of pacification, inaugurated by the Government, will, it is expected, be put to some severe tests. This was shown yesterday when a band of adherents of Emiliano Zapata fired on a Federal troop train, running from the Capital to Chonayaca. Approximately 60 soldiers were killed or wounded in this affair.

Similarly bands of Zapatistas continue committing raids or depredations in the Federal district itself and in the state of Morelos, indicating that some of the mountaineer rebels and bandits to the south of the capital are determined to keep on with their guerrilla warfare, and are not in sympathy with the peace negotiations being conducted by the Government with the brothers Zapata and others of the insurgent leaders.

The firm and energetic military rule promised by the new Mexican Government under Provisional President Huerta probably will be inaugurated this week, now that he has had eight days or direct conferences with the various rebel chiefs and negotiations with rebel leaders in the northern and southern states by indirect means of commissions sent out by the Federal Government.

Gen. Huerta is now disposed to consider as irreconcilable all those who continue longer to delay definite recognition of the new order of things, or who are disinclined to accept the reasonable terms of surrender offered to them by the central Government.

While the Federal Government expresses itself in language of the success of its plans of pacification in the northern states, a lack of harmony between the various bands of rebels in that region was developed on the arrival here yesterday of representatives of Pascual Orozco and other chiefs who have been operating in the states of Chihuahua and Sonora and other border districts.

Today and tomorrow are to be devoted to conferences between these rebel representatives and the Minister of the Interior and the Minister of War.

The railroads between the capital and the North are still interrupted, and there has been practically no mail from the United States for 15 days, except that brought by steamer in Vera Cruz.

His Nerve Goes With Him.

Little Cipriano Castro, the erstwhile Venezuelan despot, is one of those gentlemen possessing unbounded audacity, it would seem, if his latest exhibition should prove to be more than newspaper romancing. Soon after his arrival in Havana the tumultuous welcome accorded him must have added materially to his well-known stock of vanity for he is reported to have informed the hospitable and credulous Havanese that President Wilson had honored him with an especial invitation to the inaugural ceremonies, with an invitation to the White House on the side. To anyone familiar with the ways of this notorious South American, who got into this country by a close shave, the prompt and unequivocal denial of the President that he had any desire for intimate social relations with the notorious Castro would be given due weight, and it is to be hoped that Cipriano and his well-filled suit case may find permanent lodgment in Cuba. But, if he does elect to remain there permanently it were wisdom for the Cuban President to look well to his laurels and when retiring at night to see that the doors of his palace are double locked and barred and the grounds well policed. Cipriano is a slippery fellow but it were well for him not to import any of his South American manners into North America or contiguous territory.

New York Should Catch Up.

A great deal of fun has been poked at the New York metropolis because of its evident approval of horse drawn street cars after all other get-up-and-get eastern cities had discarded them, but in the latest waiting appeal from the Empire State there seems to be a growing inclination toward "crowding the mourners." The New York public service commission is actually at work trying to induce the railroad companies of that State to introduce the sanitary individual drinking cup into their passenger coaches, "the supply of which," quoting from this circular letter, "will be kept in a closed retainer near the drinking water tank, and which may be easily obtained by travelers within the limits of this State at least." Pretty good from the boss car state when one considers that New England roads, or most of them, as well as all roads running west and south out of Washington have been supplied for some time with these requisites for comfortable railway travel in the twentieth century. But as long as there's life there's hope for our Empire State neighbor and before the close of another decade it may really be able to keep up with the procession.

It's President Wilson.

The inauguration of Woodrow Wilson as President of the United States was marked by the most glittering pomp and pageantry thus far witnessed in Washington. And this in spite of the honest and well-meant protest of Taft's democratic successor. But the people, especially the democratic contingent, overruled him and their wishes prevailed. For twenty-four hours the National capital has gurgled and foamed and foamed and gurgled like the greatest champagne bottle in history. Everybody, especially the expectant office seeker, was out for all the fun going and his war cry was "darn the expense." From Georgetown to the capitol a seething mass of humanity moved hither and thither, especially along Pennsylvania avenue, evidently having paid no heed to the words of the benevolent weather forecaster. Considering the immense number of people in Washington from all parts of the country accidents were few and far between and the inauguration of Wilson and Marshall will go into history as, in general, one of the most successful on record.

Two Cent Foreign Postage.

Up to date it is admitted by the United States postal authorities that the two cent foreign postage rate has been a more or less conspicuous fizzle according to the precise point of view. During the last fiscal year the two cent agreement with Great Britain and Germany has resulted in an actual loss of $899,961 to the United States postal revenues and that changes in the international postage rates are likely to result from the next universal postal congress at Madrid next spring. Hence Norway, Sweden, Denmark, the Netherlands, and a few other foreign countries will knock in vain at Uncle Sam's door this year for the extension of the two cent rate to each of them. Uncle Sam likes to encourage letter writing but draws the line at losing money steadily by reason of such encouragement.

Meyer Down With Colors Flying.

Upon his retirement from the post of Secretary of the Navy, George Von L. Meyer gracefully acknowledges his indebtedness to his late associates and to naval officers in general for the earnest and effective support given him in his work of navy upbuilding. The tribute thus paid, while somewhat unusual, is none the less graceful and deserved and we can do

Culver Black Horse Troop and Band Chosen as Escort to Vice President Marshall In Parade.

One of the prettiest divisions to be recruited for the inaugural parade in Washington was the personal escort to Vice President Marshall, composed of the famous Black Horse troop and band of the Culver Military academy. This fine aggregation of trimly uniformed cadets is the subject of much pride in Indiana and of the vice president who comes from that state. Above is shown a picture of the Black Horse troop, at top, and the band below.

no less than reproduce it for the benefit of our readers generally. "It has been my privilege to serve as Secretary of the Navy for four years and I have never worked with men who have such unselfish and patriotic motives as the officers of the United States Navy." True, every word of it, and so far as we are informed this friendly spirit of the late secretary is cordially reciprocated by sailors and civilians alike. Barring his ill-advised advocacy of the plan of closing the navy yards of the Atlantic coast with the idea of establishing a great naval base in the ooze of Narragansett bay, we incline to the belief that no Secretary of the Navy in recent years has established a more creditable record in a four years' administration than Secretary Meyer. No secretary ever worked harder or more effectively than he and he retires from public life with the good will and thanks of the nation he has so creditably served.

EXPATRIATE FEELS EXILE

William Waldorf Astor Says the Kind of Life He Leads is Wrong

A French newspaperman recently interviewed William Waldorf Astor, the expatriated American multimillionaire.

"It's the fashion to point to Mr. Astor as an Anglo-American, an American too confounded English to do justice to his country. That seems to be an enormous mistake, for Mr. Astor loves his own country."

Moreover, he admits that it is wrong for an American to spend his enormous income, furnished by American rent payers abroad, but he isn't himself to blame, for his strange likings for old Europe, and his ways and his corresponding dislike for many features of American life, so he says.

"You are a cosmopolitan," said Mr. Astor when we were walking in the gardens of his princely estate on the Thames. "It's wrong, but unlike myself, you are not too old to mend matters. As you know I have led the life of a cosmopolitan for years—there is nothing in it, I assure you. We have no right to spend abroad revenues earned at home. All I possess—everything—has been paid for, with checks drawn against my American accounts."

"You know New York you have traveled past the sources of my income long rows of houses, whole blocks, streets of them. Every time we pay out money in England, France or Germany, or wherever we are it shows lack of appreciation of the country of our birth. I suffer under these scruples, and every honest cosmopolitan has the same experience sooner or later."

"If you feel that way why don't you return to the United States?" I asked rather rudely.

"Why? Because my father hit up on the unhappy idea of sending me abroad when a boy to study languages. Result? I got a strange liking for old Europe and its ways, and a dislike for many features of American life. America is still young—the only country with a future, because of its limitless resources and because its people are full of push and energy. Here exhaustion faces everything and everybody. Europe has run its course and its face is turned toward the past. Mr. Astor pointed to the walls and towers of his palace, flanked by century old trees.

"Such is Europe," he continued; "unhappy, settled, strong of foothold, quiet, serious, sane—qualities I admire, but because I love my country less, and because I have personal comfort more, because I was brought up to identify myself with the wild rush of American life, I am not."

After this self portrait there is no need of saying more about my friend of the United States. He is in truth a British-American, possessed by many underlying qualities of heart, who with true Yankee enterprise absorbed the refinement, the love of the beautiful, the hatred of vulgarities born in the European of ancient lineage.—Buffalo News.

PRESIDENTIAL PARTICIPATION IN THE LEGISLATURE

Washington, March 3.—Members of both branches of Congress continue to discuss the report that President-elect Wilson intends to participate personally in matters of national legislation while the matters are yet before Congress. The opinion expressed by the legislators on this predicted unprecedented action range from commendation of it as a patriotic and proper practice to condemnation of it as undignified and an unjustifiable interference with the business of the Congress that would reduce the President to the status of a common lobbyist.

According to the reported intention of the President-elect he plans to spend several hours daily in the handsome President's Room, at the National Capitol. Heretofore this room has been used by the President of the United States almost exclusively for two purposes: First, it is the apartment to which the outgoing President and the incoming chief executive go on their arrival at the Capitol on the day of inaugural exercises. The other use to which it has been put by Presidents is only as their headquarters during the 11th hour of a closing Congress, when they were needed at the Capitol either to approve or veto bills rushed through. If Governor Wilson as President does often, if not daily, establish himself in the President's room so that he may be physically near the halls of Congress, he will be but following a practice that has been his during his occupancy of the gubernatorial chair in New Jersey. He has on several occasions with the utmost frankness, gone to the very doors of the New Jersey legislature, to speak, in person, to a favorable consideration, bills in which he was interested.

While members of the President-elect's political party are declaring that he will be welcomed at the threshold of the halls of the national legislature, several of them today expressed the hope that he would come there as an adviser only. The predominating Republican opinion was that the President would be taking long chances of humiliation if he carried out his reported plan. It may be expected that if the President does do this, the Republicans in Congress will not be slow to condemn in their partisan debates his "White House influence," and thus use against their Democratic opponents the very phrase with which the Democrats were so fond of criticizing the administration of Col. Roosevelt.

GUN BLOCK ON NEW U. S. WARSHIP SPLIT

Washington, March 3.—Rear Admiral Badger, in command of the Atlantic fleet, today reported that the new battleship Wyoming had met with a slight accident. During target practice a few days ago the cap square on the trunion block of one of the big forward turret guns was split. No one was injured, and in spite of the damage to the gun it was said it could have again been fired without the least danger. The Wyoming is on her acceptance trials and is proceeding toward Norfolk. Rear Admiral Badger has transferred his flag temporarily to the Connecticut.

In the ride through Pennsylvania Avenue to Capitol Hill, the President-elect being attended by the Essex troop of New Jersey, and Mr. Marshall by the Black Horse troop of Culver Academy, Indiana. Ceremonies in the senate, the inauguration of the Vice-President and swearing in of the senators began promptly at 12:00 o'clock noon, being witnessed by congress, members of the new cabinet, diplomats of all nations, justices of the supreme court and the elect of every land. Then followed on the east front of the capitol the induction into office of Woodrow Wilson.

After the new President had delivered his address, the inaugural parade wound its way through the streets blacked with cheering humanity to the White House. Mr. Taft, the retiring President rode with the new President, bidding him farewell as soon as they reached the end of the journey. The parade halted while the presidential party was at luncheon, but proceeded again through the court of honor when the President and Vice-President reached the reviewing stand at 2 o'clock. By 5 o'clock the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson will have been a matter of history.

President-elect Wilson's arrival in Washington was quite similar to his departure from Princeton. Students of Princeton University formed in a narrow lane stretching from the train steps to the President's room in the Union station.

There was deep silence as the President-elect followed by members of his family walked through the avenue formed by the students. The latter stood with their hats off. Mr. Wilson at so doffed his silk hat. Walking with him were William Corcoran Eastis, chairman of the inaugural committee, and Thomas Nelson Page, chairman of the Wilson reception committee. In the President's room Mr. Wilson was introduced to the fifty members of the reception committee, while the students grouped themselves on the balcony just outside the station. Here, as Mr. Wilson got into a White House automobile, cheer after cheer came from the Princeton students. First gave the "locomotive" cheer with its "sis-boom-a-h" for "Wilson" and then for "Princeton." They alternated this with a thundering roar until the President-elect started away. Col. Spencer S. Cooley, chief aide to President Taft and a naval and military aide, accompanied Mr. Wilson from the White House to his hotel. There were cheers along the way as pedestrians recognized the party.

The first person to greet the President-elect and Mrs. Wilson on the steps of the hotel was Capt. Bill McDonald, the aged Texas ranger and bodyguard to Mr. Wilson during the recent campaign.

"How are you?" exclaimed the President-elect and Mrs. Wilson at the same time, as they stepped rapidly forward and grasped Capt. McDonald's hands. The captain, who it frequently is said in Texas is filled with so much lead from shooting affairs in the ranger service that he would sink if he went swimming, was overcome.

"I'd never a-died happy if I hadn't been here today," said Captain Bill as he walked arm and arm into the hotel with Mr. Wilson.

The President-elect found the corridors of the hotel crowded with Princeton alumni, wearing the orange and black roses. The Wilsons went immediately to their suite on the fourth floor of the hotel, where John W. Wilson, a cousin of the President-elect and a score of relatives, were waiting to receive.

RAILROAD NOTES

It was reported in railroad circles at Bangor that the conductors, trainmen, telegraphers and trackmen of the Bangor & Arundel railroad will go out on strike within two days, with the probable result of completing tying up the road, at least temporarily. The conductors and trainmen voted to strike on Feb. 1, but have continued at

WHEN A LAXATIVE IS NEEDED--"CASCARETS"

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills Acts on Bowels as Pepper Acts in Nostri's

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your liver, stomach and bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous, and upset, bothered with a sick, disordered, gassy stomach, or have headache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets--or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills, or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines, and bowels.

Remember a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10 cent box from your druggist means healthy bowel action; a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

work. President Todd of the Bangor & Arundel, said last night that a conference with the committee of the conductors and trainmen had been arranged for 2 p.m. today and that at the same time a committee of the trackmen would be received by Chief Engineer Burpee in Bangor. President Todd knew nothing of the threatened strike of the telegraphers. The conductors and trainmen demand increases in pay averaging 46 per cent.

Lloyd & Mann of Concord are the engineers for a new railroad which is to be built from Greenfield, Mass., to Wilmington, Vt., by way of Jackson, Vt., for the purpose of marketing the products of 25,000 acres of valuable timber land which the New England hardwood company owns in that vicinity and which now is reached by the Deerfield River railroad company, running from Mountain Mills near Wilmington into the lumber country. The new road will be 18 miles in length in Vermont and 13 in Massachusetts and has necessary charter for the Vermont construction was secured at the recent session of the legislature of that state. The timber area to be tapped is one of the largest undeveloped tracts in New England.

The New Haven railroad is negotiating to transfer its entire dining-car service to the control and management of Ford Harvey, director of the Santa Fe system, receiver for the Kansas City street railway lines and head of the Harvey chain of hotels. The deal is likely to be completed within two weeks. Passing of dining-car service from New Haven's control is in line with road's policy to rid itself of all its corporate interests except a straight transportation business.

FAIR WEATHER PROMISED FOR INAUGURATION

Washington, March 3.—Fair Tuesday morning, probably followed by unsettled Tuesday afternoon or night; wind becoming variable Tuesday; was the official Weather Bureau forecast for inauguration day here, issued early today.

Apparently having in mind the "Hareback" of last inauguration day, when the prediction of fair weather was overturned by snow and a steel storm, the weather forecasters were none too positive today in their prediction of what kind of weather would greet the inauguration of President Wilson and Vice President Marshall. Unofficial indications of weather-wise citizens today were that the incoming President and the thousands of visitors would be favored with pleasant weather for part of inauguration day, at least.

The indications are that the disturbance now over the Plains States will move east and be attended by local snows in the region of the Great Lakes, the interior of New York and North New England, and unsettled weather Tuesday in the middle Atlantic states and the Ohio Valley, said the forecast.

SUBMARINES SHIPPED EAST

With 210 tons of submarines lashed to her deck forward, the United States naval auxiliary Ajax, Captain J. H. The submarines were put aboard

FOR HETCH HETCHY VALLEY

Sec. Fisher Refuses to Grant Application of San Francisco for Its Use as Reservoir Site.

Washington, March 3.—Sec. Fisher today refused to grant the application of the city of San Francisco for the use of the Hetch Hetchy Valley as a reservoir site. The Secretary, in his decision, said that as a matter of broad public policy, the natural condition of so important a natural curiosity and wonder as the Hetch Hetchy Valley should not be radically changed without the express authority of Congress.

The advisory Board of Army Engineers substantially recommended the use of the Hetch Hetchy Valley, in a report submitted to the Secretary two weeks ago.

"I do not believe that the Secretary of the Interior should grant under the act of Feb. 16, 1901, a permit in this case based upon the principal determining factor of the difference in cost between available alternative sources of water supply, whether the difference be $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 or even more than $20,000,000.

"If the Secretary were to do this, would, in a certain important sense, be placing a monetary value upon the preservation of the Hetch Hetchy Valley in its present natural condition. It would be determining that in order to save the expenditure of a certain sum of money by the people of San Francisco, the people of the whole country should consent to change the present natural condition of the Hetch Hetchy Valley.

"Such action, however, should not be taken by the Secretary without a clearer authorization by Congress than I am able to believe was conscientiously intended when the act of 1901 was passed. In any event, such action with respect to so important a feature of a National park as the Hetch Hetchy Valley would constitute a precedent which should be most carefully and effectively guarded before it is established."

The Secretary, however, announced that he continued both the application for the permit and the rule to show cause until application can be made by the city to Congress for such action as Congress may deem proper in the premises.

The Hetch Hetchy Valley is almost as beautiful in its natural condition as the Yosemite Valley, and the proposition to flood it to make a reservoir for San Francisco has been bitterly opposed by many magazine writers and others.

SEEK BURIED $10,000,000.

Captain John Welling and "a Wisconsin College Professor" Will Continue Attempts Begun in 1795 to Dig up Treasure on Oak Island, N. S.

Chester, N. S., March 3.—Captain John Welling will attempt soon to recover a rich treasure which he believes pirates buried on Oak Island, near here, two hundred years ago. Several times during the past fifteen years Captain Welling, first officer on board the Government dredge W. S. Fielding, has tried to locate the supposed treasure. Recently he accepted an offer of assistance from a Wisconsin college professor.

In 1795 three men located a great pit on the island and within a short time were working in a well-defined shaft. The men abandoned the work after reaching a depth of thirty feet. Early in the nineteenth century another party found a large flat stone at a ninety-five foot depth. On the stone was carved: "Ten feet below are $2,000,000 buried." The workers soon struck water which filled the pit.

Captain Welling began in 1896. Going down 126 feet, his men struck oak wood. At 153 feet they met a seven inch layer of cement, directly under which was a solid oak plank five inches thick. A soft metal was struck after boring the wood. Funds were exhausted and the work was suspended. The Wisconsin professor has organized a company and with a large amount of money at his disposal intends to dig a freezing process and with the aid of powerful machinery pump the water from the pit.

EXPECTS TO REORGANIZE DIPLOMATIC SERVICE

Washington, March 3.—Although the President-elect has not committed himself on that point, a general reorganization of the diplomatic service is expected to follow his installation in office. In order to protect the interests of the government, however, the changes will be made gradually, the ambassadors probably will be the first considered.

In the usual course the ambassadors and most of the ministers tender their resignations to the incoming President, especially where there is a change in the dominant party. That is done as a matter of courtesy, in order to afford the new administration full opportunity to adjust itself and learn the state of business in each of the foreign offices.

It is said at the State Department that probably that course will be pursued in the present case; doubtless a number of such resignations already have been addressed to the incoming President, and will reach him soon after March 4.

Larz Anderson is the first of the ambassadors now in office to tender his resignation. His status is unlike that of the other ambassadors. He was promoted from the ministry at Brussels to be ambassador at Tokio before the present session of Congress began, and holds a recess appointment by law that expires with the present session, and Mr. Anderson resigned from the service rather than wait automatic retirement next Tuesday.

Theodore Marburg, who succeeded Mr. Anderson as minister to Belgium, also Secretary of Legislation, J. Butler Wright. As both officials will be dropped from the diplomatic service by law, if the senate fails to act upon their pending nominations before March 4, it is likely that these offices will be among the earliest to be filled by the President-elect.

In one case at least that of Henry P. Fletcher of Pennsylvania, minister to Chile, it is known that his retirement from office, if it occurs will be voluntary. He entered the diplomatic service as the result of an examination and worked up from a minor secretaryship to the post of charge d'affaires in Peking, China. Because of the ability he showed while in Peking Mr. Fletcher was promoted minister to Chile. Although Mr. Fletcher always has been a Republican, he has made public his intentions not to follow the recognized custom of offering his resignation before the inauguration of the new President. He buses his position on his civil service record.

So far, none of the consular officers has resigned because of the pending change in the administration.

FRENCH AND GERMAN PREPARATIONS

In France and Germany the campaign in favor of an increased military expenditure has an acknowledged cause. It is a campaign, moreover, that is carried on with a full realization of the seriousness of the issues involved and with methods that even among those in disagreement with the policy urged command serious attention.

England is in the throes of a similar campaign, but it is being conducted differently. The British agitator lacks two things. The first is a sense of humor; the second, the capacity to convince the country at large that their objects are national and not merely partisan politics, masquerading in the garb of pure patriotism. There is, of course, no suggestion that men like Lord Roberts are not thoroughly convinced of the necessity of compulsory military service, but an exception is made of the few who honestly believe that England must prepare for the day when all her resources will be fixed to the utmost. The average Englishman is inclined to look for the "nigger in the woodpile"—in other words, the desire to turn the Liberals out of office and put the Tories in.

MEYER ADVOCATES TWENTY-ONE BATTLESHIP FLEET

Washington, March 3.—In a letter to the New York Times, Secretary of the Navy Meyer says: The battleship fleet should be maintained with twenty-one ships in the active fleet and twenty in the reserve fleet. Those in the active fleet should not exceed ten years of age, and those between ten and twenty years old should be placed in the reserve fleet. We should have four torpedo boat destroyers to every battleship, and in addition scout cruisers, submarines, supply ships, colliers, and minor auxiliary vessels. The building program each year should be sufficient to replace those battleships which have reached twenty years of age, as all expert authorities consider them after that period obsolete and useless, even to the reserve fleet. As an example of our building program as compared with that of Germany, on the completion of the Pennsylvania, just contracted for, the United States will have fourteen dreadnoughts and Germany will have twenty-six. In order to reduce expenditures needless navy yards should be abolished and sold.

ALL EUROPE IS AN ARMED CAMP

London, March 3.—A sensation has been caused by the statement in the Vienna Zeit that the annual levy of conscripts will be increased by 50,000, which would add 300,000 in all to the effective war strength. It is understood that in view of the increase in the German and French armies the Austrian War Office sounded the alarm subject, but encountered opposition for financial and political reasons. The Italian Government also has joined itself to the rest of the European Continental Powers in making military preparations. It has increased the Italian garrisons along the Swiss frontier, and military engineers are engaged in building new forts commanding the passes from the mouth of the Simplon tunnel toward the east. Chambers for mines have been excavated at the Italian entrance to the great Simplon tunnel and these have been fitted with several electrical connections under ground so that by pressing a button twenty miles away the tunnel can be shattered. The mines have not yet been charged with explosives. In the centre of the Simplon tunnel, there is a massive steel door which may be worked from either the Swiss or the Italian side in order to block the passage of trains or troops.

LAST CHANCE TO PREVENT VACANCY EXPIRES

Concord, March 3.—The last chance which New Hampshire had to prevent a vacancy in her congressional representation at Washington after 12 o'clock noon, Tuesday, vanished at noon Tuesday, when only 12 senators, and representatives gathered at the capitol to ballot for a successor to United States senator Henry B. Hummel. No quorum was declared and adjournment was taken.

By a Portsmouth Resident

The following has more interest for Portsmouth residents than it otherwise would have because Mr. Dunlap is one of ourselves, a citizen of Portsmouth. It is to prove of assistance to but one person in Portsmouth, it will have been well worth the telling.

Albert Dunlap, retired, 26 N. School St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "I suffered from kidney disease, brought on I believe by the hardships I endured while in the army. Some years ago my complaint became much worse and there was a constant pain in the small of my back that made me miserable. It was difficult for me to get about and if I stooped or moved suddenly, sharp twinges darted through my body. When I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised as a cure for such troubles, I decided to try them and procured a box at Phillips' Drug Store. After using about half the contents, I could see an improvement and almost before I realized it, the pains in my back disappeared. I have had no trouble to speak of from my kidneys since. Occasionally when I have taken a slight cold or over-worked, my back has become weak, but at such times a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills have always benefited me."

Government's plans meet the sanction of the Reichstag the expenditure voted for the Kaiser's military establishment during 1913 will reach the gigantic total $600,000,000, some part of which, however, may be expended in future years. This amount will be made up of $250,000,000 for the initial cost of the forthcoming increase, $50,000,000 for the first installment of annual fixed charges arising out of this increase and $300,000,000 which the army at present requires. To meet the initial cost of the increase the Government proposes a resort to what is practically a war contribution in the form of a tax on private fortunes.

The Herald Hears

That the back men would rather see a monopoly on the depot business.

That the "Engineering News" a journal given to building interests states that the Boston & Maine will give for service on the York Beach line when it runs the year around.

That the firemen had all kinds of handbills fighting the blaze of the Boston & Maine round house last night.

That the railroad could do nothing better than install some fire fighting apparatus on its property there.

That some decent light there would be another needed addition.

That it is hard to understand how the men who work there can do what is required of them by night with such a lighting system.

That over 400 feet of hose was laid across the tracks from McEloughlin street by the chemical crew.

That E. Mark Sullivan, the Asst. District Attorney of Massachusetts is the next speaker at the local lodge of 121ks.

That he will be a great card for the occasion.

That a carpenter has put nearly 50 pounds of steel nails in the floors of city hall in an attempt to get the annoying squeak out of the floors.

That it is a less-up whether a new floor of the nails are the cheapest.

That the discharge in the general store at the navy yard came as a quick surprise.

That the junk question as it stands today is causing some interest in the police.

That the Christian Share resident who is organizing a band says that it would be complete if he could get some of his friends to help carry the band drum.

That the military men of this city would like to know just where they are at on the armory question.

That there is one thing certain, no New Hampshire man will be a member of the new cabinet.

That a young man who got most of his daily exercise pounding horses is looking for a job.

That the proprietor of a stable who released this animal heater did the right thing.

That if more horse owners would do some thing it would not cost them a much for horse flesh.

That these boys and young men who are so handy with the whip and stick could all be in jail in any other city.

That the glooms are numerous at the navy yard just now.

That the fire alarm is not doing its full duty just at present.

That if all these who think they are really needed at every fire were on the payroll the appropriation for fire department would need a big increase.

That Portsmouth has several patients at the Carney hospital, Boston, at present for treatment.

That the small boy did not wear out his skates and sled this winter.

FOR OLD TIME SAKE.

Polanders and Russians Mix It Up in the North End District.

The serenity that has been noted in the North End district was broken on Monday afternoon on the arrival of John Salensky and John Johnson, two Russians, who drove the glooms from that sporting district in a short time. They mixed it up for old time sake with the Polanders. Salensky and his companion have been swinging the axe in the Maine woods during the season and both felt pretty strong as a result of open air work. In the grand rally at the corner of Russell and Market streets, a Polander named Mosken elatus Slensky pounded him on the crown with the butt end of a knife. He was lucky he did not get the other end. Mosken caused the wood choppers to be brought to the city refrigerator for the evening. Now Johnson and Salensky came back with several counter warrants and order the arrest of four Polanders who they state lashed them with short arm John and barn yard swings. The afternoon of Wednesday will be given to the fighters in police court and the initial session of Judge Adams, who is acting in place of Judge Stues, ought to be all that is desired for the regular spectators.

Italy Fortifies SIMPLON TUNNEL.

Geneva, Switzerland, March 3.—The Italian government has joined itself to the rest of the European continental powers in making military preparations.

It has increased garrisons along the Swiss frontier, and military engineers are engaged in building new forts commanding the passes from the mouth of the Simplon tunnel toward the east.

Chambers for mines have been excavated at the Italian entrance to the great Simplon tunnel and these have been fitted with secret electrical connections underground so that by pressing a button 20 miles away the tunnel can be shattered.

PIGGERY AND SHED

Of George Davis Destroyed by Fire This Afternoon.

An alarm from box 78 shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon summoned the fire department to the residence of George B. Davis on Barbary Lane. The fire was confined to a piggery and woodshed. The blaze started on the upper floor of the woodshed where a small amount of hay was stored, and which had a good headway when discovered. The fire department could do little outside of working to prevent the dwelling from taking fire. The family of Mr. Davis stated that they did not know the exact cause of the fire.
